Chairman's Report

Welcome to yet another brand-new year and I hope it is safe and peaceful for you and your family. I would like to remind all residents of the objectives of the ARA as set out in the Rules of Membership:

- To ascertain the opinions of the residents and to lay them before appropriate authorities when desirable.
- To encourage social activities among its members.

We are all about you – the residents, so if there are any topics that you would like to raise or feel that the Committee can assist with, please do contact us via the email address at the end on this Report. We may be able to assist directly or, if not, point you in the right direction. For example, I have started to use the 'Love Clean Street' mobile phone app as I find it so easy to report an issue immediately to Croydon Council.

If you don't have the app, please download it so next time you have an issue, take a picture of it, choose the complaint category, write a few words and just press send. The issue is logged immediately and, although the council can't promise to resolve everything (as indeed the Committee cannot), I have been told of numerous issues that have been resolved very speedily from overhanging trees to serious potholes.

2024 was another active year for the Committee and we were fortunate enough to be joined by some new members: Peter Bolingbroke (now the ARA Secretary), Sheila Kemble and Ian Turner. I would like to personally thank them all for their participation and contributions to date. Wiktor Molleskog and Alan Chitty stood down as a long-time active members and I, along with the whole Committee thank them for their dedication and valuable contributions through the years. Some of the Committee highlights of 2024 were:

- The corner of Huntingfield/Falconwood Road. The Committee will continue to monitor this issue, but for now, things have settled and some of the illegal gravel has been removed, and we hope more will be taken away soon. If you or anyone you know would like some free gravel – please help yourself. It is anticipated that the bollards will remain in place to block the use of land by unauthorised vehicles, but they will be given a make-over so that they are less oppressive! The Committee will keep residents informed as this matter progresses. The owners remain committed to some form of development but there has been no progress on this matter and the council, currently, do not appear minded to approve any significant development on this land.

- The Committee has repeatedly requested that the Council re-instate the bus shelters that have been missed by so many residents, but we have now been informed that, as they belong to TFL, the Council has no influence over this matter.
- The ARA Magazine continues to grow in popularity, and we are fortunate to have more local advertisers to help with the finances to fund more content. To continue this growth in 2025, I would like to encourage three things: Firstly, if you live in the local area and run your business, please consider placing an advert in the magazine so we can help support you. Secondly, if you need a particular product or service, please do flick through the magazine and support the local advertisers – using local businesses helps the local economy. Finally, please do send in an article for the magazine as local content is so much more valuable. Whether it's a story on your hobby, an historic event, a club event, a crossword or puzzle or even a picture that you have taken locally, we would like to continue to provide local information.
- Following on from feedback, the ARA will again organise the “BootFair Trails” though probably only one or two this year to prevent clashing with other events. Everyone agrees that these were great events to bring the community together - as well as grab a bargain! Watch this space!
- The Prize Draw introduced by the Committee for 2024 produced some very happy winners and so I am pleased to announce that the Committee have decided to extend this to 2025. All residents that pay their annual subscription are placed into a prize draw and this is drawn every 3 months. Three winners will be picked at random every quarter.
- The local pub – The Forestdale Arms, changed hands last year and is in partnership with a Church group and is now The Kingsmen. The building now opens in the morning for community activities, and I encourage everyone to take a look at their activities and support them where possible.
- Finally, the Treasurer Ian Drake has produced monthly reports to the Committee, and the ARA has a healthy bank balance thanks to the efforts of the Committee members and local residents. It's vital that the ARA maintain this to ensure that it can continue to serve the needs of the local residents. If you are curious as to what the Committee discuss every month, please feel free to visit one of the meetings. We meet at 8pm on the first Tuesday of every month at the Methodist Church in Huntingfield Road. Please do let us know in advance of possible – see contact details below.

If you wish to send in an article or advert, or have a query, please email: addingtonresidents@gmail.com.

Shabbir Halai, Chair

Congratulations

The ARA Committee introduced a Prize Draw for 2024, and every household that pays their annual subscription (currently £5), is entered into that draw. Why have we introduced this Prize Draw? We want to encourage more local residents to pay the subscription and we want to re-vitalise the quarterly magazine so it has more local information, more local content and becomes the 'go-to' information booklet for residents!

On Tuesday the 3rd December 2024, at the monthly ARA Committee meeting, three households were randomly selected by an electronic number generator, and we are very pleased to announce the next last Prize Draw winners for 2024 as:

1st Prize £50: Susan Weller

2nd Prize £30: Marc and Carmel Sellier

3rd Prize £20: Valerie Keane

The next Prize Draw takes place in March when 3 more lucky winners will be drawn. You may still pay your subscription using the following information:

Account Name : Addington Residents Association

Sort Code : 40-35-40

Account Number 81491253.

Please include your abbreviated address within the Reference of your payment, ie 2 PG for 2 Palace Green.

Live In Care

Did you know we can provide a carer to live at home with you?

Our carers provide the peace of mind of knowing someone is around. They support people to stay in a house they love, in the middle of the community they belong in.

Our founder was a nurse who had a life changing accident. We found it difficult to find a service we liked and set out to build a company that was friendly, responsive and kind. We bring together 25 years of experience across the NHS, Care Homes and Home Care. If you'd like to find out more - just drop us a line on the details below for a free chat.

The Winter Garden

December outside can be depressing. The Met Office calls it 'anticyclonic gloom'. Looking out of the window at the thick grey clouds, the damp ground, a light drizzle and a temperature of 6C, doesn't tempt me to put on the old trousers and gardening gloves. Maybe flicking through the December 'Garden' magazine from the Royal Horticultural Society (RHS) will encourage and inspire. Indeed, pictures of winter flowering clematis and an article about the tulip varieties most likely to come back year after year bring a ray of hope for next year. There are even pictures of the gardening gifts one could buy a loved one or oneself. However, I have been sitting long enough and need to move.

I decide to take the kitchen waste up the garden to the capacious hot composting bin and look at what is going on in this supposedly 'dead month'. It is chilly does not feel as cold and bleak once outside. In fact, I hear the rasp of a robin's call and then he hops down quite fearless to perch nearby in the hopes that I'll do some weeding and dig up a few tasty bugs and worms. He always arrives in a companionable, but obviously self-interested way. He is unlucky this time.

Before going even a few steps, I see fat buds on the bare Magnolia Stellata branches and pink flower buds on the Daphne, tightly nestled in the glossy green leaves waiting for some warm sunshine to delight us with its heavenly scent. There are flowers on some Polyanthus plants and gorgeous red berries on the Nandina. The last flower on our Gertrude Jekyll Rose is still sweetly scented, a reminder of summer but when I press my nose into its pink heart to breathe in the perfume, the last petals fall off!! (Well, next year will bring more delight).

I walk further up and enjoy the purple heather and am so pleased that I did a bit of clearing earlier, on a more clement day, and spread a warm layer of organic mulch to keep weeds at bay and protect delicate perennial roots from hard frosts. The Oriental Poppy has fresh feathery leaves and looks hopeful for some big red flamboyant flowers next year. No sign of snowdrops they were overwhelmed by the blue perennial Geranium that has won the survival of the fittest and will give its own colourful show. There is a surprise that the Cerinthe (Honeywort) has reappeared and is a fine show with blue green leaves and purple flowers. Of course, it will melt to mush if there is a frost, but for now it has self-seeded despite no sign of it since last year and I thought that it had lost its battle for survival against more prolific foliage. The nectar will be very welcome, normally it is a summer flower loved by bees. Another unseasonal surprise, a marigold flower.

We planted an evergreen spring scented Clematis which has buds and large healthy leaves spreading over the trellis separating the lower flower garden from the productive food producing upper part. The Chard is looking very good and keeps going wonderfully well as does the Kale, both dark green Cavolo Nero and the pretty Red Kale, which has green and blending into decorative pink and white rosettes. A delicious winter salad ingredient and when we have picked the leaves it produces little baby florets along the stem for another meal. The snails also find this tasty and the large outside leaves are full of holes but are much enjoyed by our neighbours' chickens.

The Savoy Cabbages went in very late after harvesting broad beans and despite being planted after the summer growth period are still miraculously fattening up. The red cabbages in that bed were not a success. That said, we will have some braised cabbage tonight with our dinner. We are eating our stored onions and garlic and a good crop of squash, though only three parsnips - its win some!! The potatoes were not prolific but the beans did marvellously and we have a freezer full. Similarly good raspberries and blackberries. Some plants like the wet weather as do the slugs.

Our compost bins are the very top of the garden, so on my way I can check on everything. I tip in the veggie and fruit peelings and feel the warmth and rotting smell noting plenty of busy worms.

We have a couple of fruit trees, bare branches hung with big rain drops, glistening like jewels. They look beautiful as does the garden spread below, and over the rooftops the misty trees on the hilltop of the Falconwood golf course. Pete has put sticky protective bands round the tree trunks to catch wintering fruit eating bugs. There are buds ready to burst into Spring blossom. We gardeners are optimists, looking forward hopefully and realistically.

I return to warmth and my comfy chair to read a bit more RHS wisdom, 'How to go green with your Christmas tree. It will be 'next year' by the time this magazine is published but the five ways to be more planet friendly are

1. Keep your artificial one going and reuse for as long as possible.
2. Rent a tree - Try to find a company that's local to you.
3. Recycle after use. I've heard zoos give some animals donated trees for stimulation.
4. Buy a locally grown tree preferably one that doesn't use chemicals.
5. Pick a potted tree to plant in the garden or leave in the pot to grow till next year.

We have opted for suggestion 1. As our tree must now be about 20 years old and is packed up carefully in its box each year and goes up in the loft with all the other decorations of similar and much older vintage.

Former Selsdon garage site

It is very pleasing to be able to report progress on the former Selsdon garage site, which has been derelict for more than a quarter of a century. Planning permission was granted in February 2024. More details are available in the Planning Register on the Council website under application number 21/04116/FUL.

Planning approval was a big step forward, but there still needs to be an economic case before building can commence. This is being taken forward by a proposal for the Council to take on long leases of various development sites across Croydon, including the former Selsdon garage site, to support housing needs through increasing affordable housing supply. The development will be delivered by Inspired Structured Solutions who will provide all funding and carry the development risk. Whilst there are still hurdles to cross before we see the new building taking shape, this is significant progress.

Winter preparedness

We are now well into the winter period when we can expect snow and ice, so please be prepared. Please be aware that although the council grits the main roads, side roads are not routinely treated. You can find more details on the council website on the page “Road Gritting and Salting”.

For residents use the council has 578 salt bins that are all repaired and filled at the start of each winter. You can find where they are on the council website on the same page as mentioned above. If the salt bin is low or empty, please report this on LoveCleanStreets.

Selsdon library

The library is now on the new arrangements where it is open six days a week including Saturday. Current opening hours are 10am to 6pm on Monday, Wednesday and Friday; 9am to 5 pm on Saturday and self-service from 9am to 7pm on Tuesday and Thursday. Last entry is 30 minutes before closing. Do please take advantage of this valuable community facility.

Bus shelters

The removal of bus shelters and appointment of a contractor by the previous administration who failed to deliver replacements has taken longer to rectify than hoped, despite strenuous efforts by the Council. In common with the vast majority of other London boroughs the shelters are now being provided by tfl. It is hoped that 99 shelters will be installed by the end of March. A list should appear on the council website shortly, including which of these shelters will have the countdown feature showing the estimated time till the arrival of the next bus.

Waste collection contract

A new street cleaning contract will come into place by the summer. Whilst it's the same contractor, Veolia, it is under a very different contract with improved street cleaning, a new night-time waste and cleansing service, and an enhanced waste collection service for flats above shops. The council will also be actively managing the contract to ensure service delivery to residents. These new focuses are going to make a big difference to how our borough looks and feels.

Geoff does it again

In 2022 after suffering two strokes, 4 heart attacks and very poor health, local resident Geoff Jordan, and his faithful rescue greyhound Flo, started doing annual sponsored walks for various charities. Geoff, having been a resident of Addington for over 40 years, naturally approached the Residents Association members for donations and they were happy to help, giving generously toward his first walk which raised £1,000 for the Stroke Association who had supported him through his illness.

The second walk in August 2023 managed to double the amount raised on the first walk to £2,000 which this time was for the Alzheimer's Association.

The third walk this year managed to raise a further £1,753, this time for MNDA, the Motor Neurone Disease Association. The total amount raised for charity in the last two years was £4,753 for three worthy causes. Geoff, now 83, and once more feeling the pressures of continuing poor health, and his dog Flo not getting any younger either, has decided to call it a day on powered walks for charity but not without thanking all the residents of Addington for their valued support in helping him raise this substantial amount for Charity.

He also would like to thank the Hayes (Kent) Lodge who have also donated to his walk and also given further donations of over £10,000 to other local charities.

Well done Geoff, a tremendous effort.
